BIBLE VERSES ABOUT GOD LOVES EVERYONE

Everyone who loves has been born of God and knows God. Whoever does not love does not know God, because God is love" (1 John 4:7-21). As well put by John, our knowledge of God's love is as limited by our ability to choose or reject love.

Does God love everyone or just Christians?

And if we talk about the love of God in His terms of the love of complacency and talk about it universally, that's blasphemy because God does not love the whole world in the love of complacency. In fact, the Scriptures tell us that there are many ways in which God is at enmity with the world.

Does God Love Whom He Does Not Save? - GTY

In your August 30th episode, you helpfully addressed the correlation between God's love and election, and the fact that the two are basically interchangeable (if I understood you correctly). However, it leaves me with the question about how I'm to understand God's love toward the non-elect. Does God love the non-elect?

Does God Loves Everyone - sounddoctrine

Love is the best known but least understood of all God's attributes. Almost everyone who believes in God these days sees Him as a God of love. I have even met agnostics who are quite certain that if God exists, He must be benevolent, compassionate, and loving. All those things are infinitely true about God...

Does God Love Everyone? No. - Christian Chat Rooms & Forums

God loves believers with a particular love. It is a family love, the ultimate love of an eternal Father for His children. It is the consummate love of a Bridegroom for His bride. It is an eternal love that guarantees their salvation from sin and its ghastly penalty. That special love is reserved for believers alone.

John Piper - Jesus doesn't love everybody the same

While some Calvinists forthrightly deny that God loves everyone, more commonly Calvinists attempt to affirm the love of God for all persons in terms that are compatible with their doctrines that Christ died only for the elect--those persons God has unconditionally chosen to save.

Does God So Love the World? - Grace to You with John MacArthur

God's love for mankind reaches fruition in the election of those whom He saves. And not every aspect of divine love is extended to all sinners without exception. Otherwise, all would be elect, and all would ultimately be saved. But Scripture clearly teaches that many will not be saved (Matt. 7:22-23).

Does God Love Everyone the Same?

So, yes, God does love everyone. However, this love is balanced by God's justice. While God does love everyone, relationship with Him is restored only through the sacrifice of Jesus.
