Sin, that it might appear sin, was producing death in me through what is good: Though the law provokes our sin nature, this can be used for good because it more dramatically exposes our deep sinfulness. After all, if sin can use something as good as the law to its advantage in promoting evil, it shows how evil sin is.

Sin produces more sin unless someone stops it by repenting. Sin produces sickness, pain and degeneracy: The episode involving Jesus and the paralytic (Mark 2:1-10) makes a distinct connection between sin and sickness. This effect is often subtle because an illness or a poor, weak, rundown state of health may not be the result of a specific sin.

What Sin Is & What Sin Does - Church of the Great God

Not only that, but physical death began to ravage all of creation. In Genesis 3, God had to kill an animal to cover Adam and Eve's nakedness.This was the first death in the Bible and a painful and "graphic demonstration" of the nature of sin as well as a foreshadowing of the "shedding of blood" required to cover sins. This sacrifice also ultimately pointed to Jesus who would later ...

What Does it Mean 'The Wages of Sin Is Death'?

Imputed Sin - Imputed sin is one of two effects that Adam's sin had on the human race. Original sin is the first effect. As a result of Adam's sin, all people enter the world with a fallen nature. In addition, the guilt of Adam's sin is credited not only to Adam but to every person who came after him. This is imputed sin.
