Abnormal uterine bleeding (AUB) is a common and debilitating condition with high direct and indirect costs. AUB frequently co-exists with fibroids, but the relationship between the two remains incompletely understood and in many women the identification of fibroids may be incidental to a menstrual bleeding complaint.

During the active phase, the cervix becomes fully dilated, and the presenting part descends well into the midpelvis. On average, the active phase lasts 5 to 7 hours in nulliparas and 2 to 4 hours in multiparas. Traditionally, the cervix was expected to dilate about 1.2 cm/hour in nulliparas and 1.5 cm/hour in multiparas.

What you need to know A 67 year old woman with no significant medical history required urgent orthopaedic surgery after a fall. In preparation, her bloods were collected and a random cortisol was requested, which came back at 763 nmol/L. She did not have diabetes or hypertension. The anaesthetist reviewed and commented: "High cortisol, not safe for surgery until further evaluation."

Ethical Decision Making in Obstetrics and Gynecology - ACOG

Obstetric intervention originally consisted of extraction of the baby, usually by the breech, to save the mother's life in obstructed labour. Forceps, introduced in the 17th century, were later refined by men-midwives like William Smellie. In Victorian times, Simpson championed chloroform anaesthesia, Lister pioneered antiseptics, and caesarean section was introduced.
